

Weekly Discovery

We SHARE to inspire and ignite ideas!

16 November 2015 – 20 November 2015

ARCHITECTURE

Floating "University City"

Imagine a university on the waters! French architects are living up to this imagination by building a "university city" which will house over 7,000 people, equipped with learning & leisure facilities. Could this be a possibility for future campuses in land scarce Singapore?

Source: The Creators Project

EDUCATION

Thinking for Dummies

Critical thinking is a common term that we have been hearing. But are we thinking critically? This article shares great critical thinking tools for us to understand the world and make better decisions with good reasoning. As the author puts it, "Powerful principles of reasoning, once learned, will never decay."

Source: The Chronicle of Higher Education (November 2015)

MANAGEMENT

How Organizations Can Grow by Learning

Sometimes, traditional thinking obstructs our path of continuous improvement, even for organizations dedicated to continuous learning. See how to overcome the challenges with some methods to improvise learning.

Source: Harvard Business Review (November 2015)

PROGRAMMING

36 Hours at the Most Important Hackathon on Earth

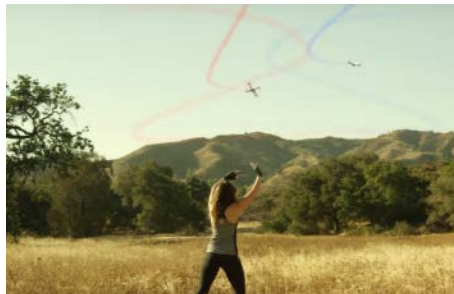

Ever felt the thrill of a hackathon or planning to? Read all about the excitement of an hackathon event at Silicon Valley, whereby 400 programmers gathered to create something that could possibly change the future, all within 36 hours!

You never know. You might be tempted to participate in the next hackathon or even organize one in SUTD, after reading this!

Source: Popular Mechanics (December 2015)

TECHNOLOGY

Boundless Possibilities with Drones

Drones unleash various possibilities as they are being developed and refined. They can now take off automatically after being thrown in the air, follow you wherever you go to, take selfies and even sky painting! Take a peek in this video how drones can work in the near future!

Source: The Next Web

TRENDS

Cutting the Cords

Still fiddling with your USB cords to charge your phone? Wireless charging is the trend now! Just as Wi-Fi killed network cables, the author predicts wireless charging will kill USB cords. Take a peek at 7 wireless charging gadgets, now available in the market!

Source: Entrepreneur (December 2015)